Restoring Core Intestinal Health is Easy with Young Living's Life 5

Lehi, Utah—There is no better way to restore core intestinal health than with Young Living Essential Oil's new Life 5™, a hi-potency probiotic.* Studies indicate that probiotics, sometimes known as healthy intestinal flora or beneficial bacteria, are more vital than ever imagined, especially for the bowel—the core of good health. For the bowel to work properly, billions of probiotics are necessary in every intestinal function to prevent the proliferation of harmful bacteria. Many individuals choose to add fermented foods such as cultured yogurt and sauerkraut to their diet. The easiest and most effective way to get the probiotics our bodies need is through a premium probiotic product such as Life 5.

The new Life 5 provides a boost of five clinically proven probiotics that represent the healthiest and most viable strains prepared in a supplement. This includes three advanced super strains that have the confirmed ability to adhere and colonize up to ten times better than more commonly used strains.

Suitable for children and adults, maintaining optimal health is easier than ever. Taking probiotics on a daily basis can relieve bowel distress and promotes greater energy, improves immunity and nutrient absorption, and offers strong intestinal support.* For these reasons, Young Living's Life 5 is a step above the rest.
